Rubbing Elbows With the Common People Keeps a Nation Sharp

Not long ago some British business men under the auspices of the Anglo-American Productivity Council paid a visit to the United States, and one of the things that caught their eye was our system of distributing daily newspapers — known as the "little merchant" plan.

Under the "little merchant" plan American schoolboys hold territorial franchises, buy newspapers at wholesale from the publishing company and sell them at retail to the city subscribers. The system operates universally in America and has been in force for Hope Star more than 20 years.

When these Englishmen returned home they suggested adoption of the "little merchant" plan there. They told the British public.

"The 'little merchant' system can be a healthy and healthy effort which need not interfere with education and can instill in the youngsters the germ of business ability."

But they got nowhere fast. As William Ridd, secretary of Great Britain's Newspapers Society, explained:

"Public opinion (in Britain) still regards this part-time occupation as something beneath dignity... detrimental to a boy's physical and mental development and well-being. American practice has shown such views to be ill-founded."

So the English will stick to their hide-bound tradition of requiring grown men to distribute newspapers while schoolboys confine their activities to books and sports.

Well, that's England's privilege — to run her society and business, and educate her youth, as she chooses. But I have a rebuttal for America's side, drawn from 30 years' personal observation of the newspaper business and boys, and reinforced by the virtually unanimous opinion of the American public.

Years ago at El Dorado, where I first settled in Arkansas, the morning Daily News had about 36 carrier boys, and one of the never-ending spectacles of American democracy was the sight of a millionaire's big chauffeur-driven limousine pulling up at the carrier's entrance about 4 a.m. and disgorging the millionaire's son to begin his paper route.

Like him in Hope today, the Star has 24 boys, drawn from all classes of society but learning the same thing — how to perform a necessary public service and how to handle the public for a personal profit. And in this the Star has been here — in the 34th — the "adult local business" men who owe much to their early training as paper carriers are numbered by the hundreds.

Has a picture that applies to all education. Has the usefulness of teaching boys early in life to rub elbows with everyone and learn the public's taste and habits. I have in front of me a comparative account for the British side which says definitely that America's system is best.

In the March 24 issue of the Wall Street Journal A. J. McKenna reported in a dispatch from Ottawa that even if the United States abolished all its tariffs American goods would still outsell the British in Canada, although Canada is part of the British empire. And here is the clincher paragraph from McKenna's dispatch:

"The experience of D. Longmire, an executive of National Drug & Chemical of Canada, Ltd., provides a clue why this is so. They (the British) don't do business the way we do here," he says. "Take a simple case like nail files. When I was in England recently I looked at their nail files and asked what kind of display cards they had. They said, 'My dear man, we don't care them. The only proper way to ship nail files is in greased paper.' 'I'm British myself,' he adds, 'but after two days of this kind of thing I got fed up and went on to Leipzig. The Germans not only would supply nail files on display cards but in any color or design of cards I wanted.'"

The British are entitled to their opinions, but here in America we'll take the business man who learned his lesson early in handling the public on a newsboy's route — as compared to an educated adult who doesn't pretend to knowledge of trade and commerce until all schooling is behind him.

Opponents of Adenauer Start Drive

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
BONN, Germany, (U.P.) — Foes of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seized on Moscow's new "peace offensive" today to step up their fight against his plan to rearm West Germany as part of the Western Defense Front.

West Germany's neutralist "All-German People's party" denounced the West's acceptance of Russia's gestures "as a last chance for peaceful agreement." The neutralists also accused Adenauer and the Western Allies of having spoiled some previous Russian overtures by setting too high a price for negotiations.

But from the German government side came a warning that "that cold war has by no means ended" and that the chances for a real settlement with Moscow "can come only through further strengthening of the West."

With a national election due this year, observers here felt that the fight against Adenauer's rearmament plans would be stepped up sharply if Moscow should make a new bid to the Western Big Three for conferences on reunification of Germany.

Young Killer Wants to Die

DUBUQUE, Ia. (U.P.) — Fred E. McBurney, confessed killer of five persons, was apparently without hope, remorse or self-pity today.

He stubbornly refused legal counsel and his father's attempts to save him from a death-row cell. But he finally thawed toward his brokenhearted parent when they met late yesterday.

Nation Heading for 6½ Billion Dollar Deficit

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Government finance specialists said today the country appears headed for a deficit of nearly 6½ billion dollars — about a half-billion more than predicted — by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

The specialists, who asked not to be named, said in separate interviews:

1. With most of the big March tide of tax dollars counted net revenues this year may be a billion dollars less than the $68,971,000,000 former President Truman predicted in his final budget message last January.

2. With the fiscal year three-quarters gone, expenditures may run about a half-billion less than the $74,593,000,000 Truman forecast.

This would mean a deficit of about $6,400,000,000 rather than the $5,890,000,000 forecast by Truman. Such a deficit would hamper President Eisenhower's drive to "balance the budget for fiscal 1954, starting July 1."

Revenues are still to come in during the last quarter of the fiscal year, and spending will continue now and then, said change these estimates radically. There are two big question marks:

1. How much of the flood of tax collections resulting from the March 15 income tax deadline is still to be deposited to government accounts?

2. How are corporation income tax collections running?

These questions cannot be answered, perhaps, until near the end of April. Last year there was a considerable spillover.

Corporations pay their taxes quarterly. They still have one quarterly payment due this year — on June 15.

Tax collections in March were 10½ billion dollars. If it were known how much of that was from corporations, it would not be too difficult to foretell about how much corporations will pay on June 15. Until this division is known, estimates of total collections for the year are in doubt.

MUNSAN, Korea, (U.P.) — The United Nations command today rushed plans for the possible quick return of sick and wounded Allied prisoners from North Korea.

But the American admiral who will speak for the U. N. is presently exchanging talks opening Monday at Panmunjom refused to predict the outcome.

"I've been here since June and I would never make the mistake of being optimistic," said Rear Ad. John C. Daniel, a U. N. truce negotiation chosen to head the Allied liaison team.

"I hope the Communists mean business this time," he added. Daniel, who flew here from Tokyo early this week, has been in almost constant telephone contact with Gen. Mark Clark's Tokyo headquarters.

If the negotiators at Panmunjom agree to exchange sick and wounded prisoners the Eighth Army will handle the transportation, medical care and supply.

Maj. Gen. Paul D. Adams, Eighth Army chief of staff, was at this advance camp Friday checking on preparations.

U. S. Marine engineers were working around the clock on a fence surrounding a large clearing nearby which reportedly will be used either as a receiving point or as a supply depot. One officer said he had orders to finish the fence by nightfall.

Army convoys lined the highway from Seoul to Munsan hauling supplies. One 13-truck convoy carried

Chinese Free 14 French Civilians

PARIS (U.P.) — The French Foreign Office said today that 14 French civilians interned by the Communists in Korea have been liberated and will arrive soon in Moscow.

The foreign office said that the director of the Soviet Foreign Office's Western European division had confirmed the release of the French civilians to France's ambassador in Moscow, Louis Joxe.

The move was viewed here as still another conciliatory gesture in the Communist world's current peace campaign.

The Foreign Office said it did not have a list of the civilians released, but they probably included members of the Soviet command staff and a French newspaper correspondent of the French Press Agency (AFP), Maurice Changeloup.

The consulate staff was headed by Consul M. P. P. P. The Frenchmen were captured in Seoul at the outbreak of the Korean War.

The Russians already have offered to help obtain the release of British civilians held by the North Koreans since the start of the Korean War.

Red Move "Encouraging"
MUNSAN (U.P.) — A spokesman for the United Nations truce delegation said tonight reports that the Communists had freed 14 French civilians interned in Korea were "encouraging."

The news was relayed to the Allied armistice camp where a liaison team headed by Rear Ad. John C. Daniel awaited a meeting Monday at Panmunjom to arrange exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war.

"If the reports are true," the Allied spokesman said, "I would say that it's encouraging."

Some Allied officers and observers here agreed that the latest move by the Reds appeared to be part of the new and apparently world-wide Communist "peace offensive."

These observers said the new move suggested that the Reds may readily settle on details for exchanging sick and wounded prisoners of war and thus clear the way for resumption of full-scale armistice negotiations broken off last Oct. 8.

Wants Consideration of Moscow Move

By K. C. THALER
LONDON (U.P.) — Sir Alvy Gascoigne, British ambassador to Moscow, has urged the government to give vigilant consideration to Russia's new "peace" moves, reliable sources said today.

Gascoigne, at a series of high level diplomatic conferences here this week, is understood to have said that caution should be maintained in assessing Soviet long term policy. But it is reported that he has suggested that the current Soviet moves toward peace are not mere propaganda.

The British government is reported to be sufficiently impressed with developments to believe that a step-by-step settlement of individual issues with Russia may be connected with the new peace

Says Russia Trying to Split Up U. S., Allies

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said today that Russia is making "a major effort to isolate the United States from its Allies."

Gruenther discussed the Russian peace offensive at a news conference. He said the Soviet move may be "legitimate or it may NOT." Dealing with it, he added, will be one of the biggest problems America and its Allies have to face in coming days.

President Eisenhower meanwhile has indicated he will judge the sincerity of the Communist peace campaign by the outcome of next week's negotiations in Korea for exchange of sick and wounded war prisoners.

The President said at a news conference yesterday that his policy is to accept the Communist move at face value until they are proved bogus.

Gruenther coupled his warning

Stassen Agrees With Ike About Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen said today he thoroughly agreed with President Eisenhower's position on the controversial efforts by Sen. McCarthy to curb free world trade with Communist nations.

Talking to White House newsmen after a Cabinet meeting, Stassen said in reply to a question that specifically he agrees with Eisenhower that it would have been better for him to have used the word "infringe" instead of saying the Wisconsin senator had "undermined" government policy.

Stassen told McCarthy's government operations subcommittee on Monday that McCarthy had undermined government efforts to shut off trade with Iron Curtain ports. The subcommittee has been getting pledges from Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and North Korea.

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Mo.) evidently regarded as a victory today President Eisenhower's refusal to condemn his unorthodox attempts to curb free world trade with Communist nations.

Eisenhower discounted the contention of Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen that McCarthy was undermining the State Department and some of its policies by getting pledges from Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and North Korea.

Generosity of Hempstead residents could result in helping a young girl live a normal life. Her life endangered by a heart condition that cannot be corrected by surgery, Linda Dean McCoy, 11, daughter of W. E. McCoy of Hope, Ark. 1, will undergo the operation in a Temple, Texas, hospital early next week — hopeful the condition can be corrected.

Mr. McCoy, a man of moderate means, is trying every way possible to get his daughter to Temple, an almost impossible task with the illness already taking his savings and leaving the family in debt.

Through the efforts of Dr. Jim McKenzie arrangements were made with the Texas hospital to perform the operation at bare cost, which even then amounts to several hundred dollars.

Rubber Strike Idles Some 85,000

By The Associated Press
Two strikes which have made idle some 85,000 workers in rubber and steel plants continued today as negotiators planned now attempts to end the crippling walk-outs.

The strike against the U. S. Rubber Company spread to the firm's 191 plant last night as 3,000 CIO union rubber workers joined some 32,000 other members who struck earlier yesterday. The plants are in cities from New England to California.

In Pittsburgh, top federal mediators were seeking to end a strike of 1,500 Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which has resulted in the layoff by U. S. Steel of nearly 50,000 workers. The work stoppage which started Monday also has crippled the corporation's steel production.

New and continuing strikes in other industries across the country involve more than 200,000 workers, putting the nation's idle because of labor disputes above 100,000.

Heavily Armed Escapees Seized

HARRISON, Mo. (U.P.) — Heavily armed escapees from the Arkansas Boys Industrial School were seized while hiding underneath a bluff here yesterday.

Sheriff Spence Holder identified them as Donald Archinal, 18, Berryville; Billy Bowden, 15, Tucker; and Jimmy Mullins, 14, of near Harrisonburg.

Elam Tunner, assistant superintendent of the Boys School, at Pine Bluff, said the trio escaped Wednesday night.

Holder said the youths told him they stole a car in Pine Bluff and drove to Conway, where they broke into a store and took guns, clothing, fishing equipment and a small amount of money.

The youths then drove to Damascus, he said, ditched one car and stole another. Then, they continued to Everton, near Harrison, where they broke into a house and took more guns and clothing, he said.

State troopers spotted the boys while investigating the Everton robbery.

Holder said there was no exchange of shots when the boys were picked up. "We just got the drop on them," he said.

Deputy Prosecutor Joe Villines filed grand larceny and burglary charges against the three.

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP) — A tent village sprang up today near Munsan to receive Allied sick and wounded prisoners if the Communists return them.

U. S. Marine engineers worked under floodlights through the night to finish the hospital village a half-mile from the United Nations armistice camp.

The village is divided into two sections — one a processing area made up of prefabricated buildings and tents, the other for the 45th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital.

Camp, Vernon C. Sorensen, Pasadena, Calif., adjutant of the 45th Mobile Hospital, said the 60-bed unit would care for the first Allied prisoners released by the Communists.

Twelve doctors, 12 nurses and series of medical corpsmen will man the hospital, commanded by Col. Charles E. Hollingsworth of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Sorensen said "We expect to run them through pretty fast. And we hope they start coming in soon."

United Nations and Communist liaison groups are scheduled to meet at Panmunjom Monday to make arrangements for exchange of the sick and wounded.

Newsmen who visited the site of the new hospital promptly named it Freedom Village. A bridge on the road from Panmunjom to Munsan long has been called Freedom.

Prisoners released by the Reds would cross it when brought to the medical and processing center here.

Many also would be brought here by helicopter. The Eighth Army plans to mobilize all helicopters that can be spared from the fighting front to help evacuate the sick and wounded if a pre-armistice exchange is arranged.

MUNSAN, Korea (UP) — United States Marines worked feverishly today to complete construction of "Freedom Village," the hoped-for first stop in the free world for sick and wounded Allied prisoners of war.

Leathernecks and medical units put up the first tents for an Army surgical hospital in a field near the Allied truce delegation headquarters at Munsan.

Across the dusty road, South Korean troops set up a medical tent for their soldiers. Marine engineers had cleared both fields during the day.

Freedom Village rapidly was taking shape to house the prisoners who would leave Communist rule by passing over Freedom Gate bridge, a long timber bridge spanning the Imjin river.

Editor's Note: This is one of several stories by Elton C. Fay, Associated Press military affairs reporter, on one of the first visits by a newsmen to the cross-country chain of laboratories and plants building the atomic-powered sub-marine.

By ELTON C. FAY

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Sanitizing the next few months during the next few months the midship section of a submarine containing a complete atomic propulsion system will slide into a futuristic steel sphere.

The "great steel ball" will house the "submarine's intermediate reactor" during its test. There are other things about the project that are just as startling.

1. A metal becomes a free-flowing liquid.

2. A powerful pump has no moving parts.

3. Electronic watchdogs, alert for danger, are poised to shut off the atomic engine in a split-second if things go wrong.

Working at two sites near here are the Atomic Energy Commission, the General Electric Corp., the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., and other contractors and sub-contractors. They are assembling the nuclear engine and the elaborate test and safety system that goes with it.

It is the first full-scale, powerful atomic reactor to be built close to a city and several large villages. This accounts for the steel sphere, 950 feet in diameter, a device intended to contain any contaminated gases which might be generated in an accident.

The reactor is one of two types which will be in pattern for the going designs to be built in two submarines.

Contracts Given on Jobs Listed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission yesterday afternoon awarded construction contracts for 100 miles of bridge construction on low bids totaling $2,650,769.

An extra 30 per cent which is added to all contract prices for engineering services will bring total cost to the state to around $3.1 million.

Preliminary estimates had set the total at around $3 million.

The contracts were the first awarded for the new highway program, which took effect July 1, 1952.

about Russia's "decisive influence" with a statement that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, commanded by Eisenhower, are inadequate to deal with a full scale Russian invasion of Western Europe if one should come.

But he added that NATO now is "about twice as well off" in ground and air forces as it was when military headquarters was set up in Europe just two years ago.

He said that from now on because of both economic difficulties and the Russian effort to divide the Allies, it will be "tougher" to reach the "force levels" needed by NATO.

Gruchter said that present Russian policy — "the mentioned efforts to deal with single nations instead of the Western Allies as a group" — presents a "challenge to American leadership."

If an armistice is reached in Korea, he said, America will "have to have the 'wisdom and imagination' to counteract continued Communist efforts to split the Allies. He conceded that "the Soviets could make it tough."

Gruchter said that the unity of NATO nations in meeting Russian "blunders" has up to now been a "thorn in the side" of the Soviets.

Missionary to Speak at Hope Tabernacle

J. W. Tucker, missionary to Belgian Congo, Africa, will be guest speaker at The Hope Gospel Tabernacle on Sunday evening, April 5, according to the pastor, the Rev. O. M. Montgomery. The development and prospects of the Assemblies of God work in Belgian Congo will be outlined by Mr. Tucker.

It was in 1939 that Mr. Tucker under appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God with headquarters in Springfield, Missouri first went to Belgian Congo and with the exception of furlough periods, has since been located there. During his first term, he was stationed at Ndeye. While there he had the oversight of the mission station and village work.

During the first two years of his second term he was stationed at Andou, ministering there and in the adjacent villages. He then went to Gombari, where he engaged in translation work and had charge of the Teachers' Training School, and evangelization work in the surrounding villages. Mr. Tucker traveled thousands of miles in village work on foot, bicycle, motorcycle and automobile.

Because of his knowledge of the French language, Mr. Tucker was the legal representative to the Belgian government and served as mission representative to the Congo Protestant Council. He also served as a member of the Executive Committee of the Belgian Congo Assemblies of God.

While in Congo, Mr. Tucker witnessed the conversion of a leper who had once been a cannibal. Prior to going to Africa, Mr. Tucker ministered in Arkansas and Oklahoma. He is a graduate of Southwestern Bible College in Endicott, Oklahoma. He did post-graduate work at Central Bible Institute in Springfield, Missouri, and studied French in Belgium.

At the conclusion of his furlough period, Mr. Tucker plans to return to the Belgian Congo.

At present Mr. Tucker is visiting various churches of the Assemblies of God, presenting the need for more extensive evangelism in Belgian Congo, Africa.

Rev. O. M. Montgomery extends an invitation to the public to hear Mr. Tucker. The service begins at 7:30 p.m.

DOROTHY DIX Wife Mental Case

Dear Miss Dix: I married at the age of 17, and have three children. I am now 28. After a few years of happy married life, I discovered that my wife was neglecting our children and going out while I was at work. Her behavior became so flagrant that the welfare society took the children away, and had her committed to a mental institution. She is still there, after three years, with no promise of improvement. With the aid of neighbors I kept our home together, then a social worker came in to look after the children. Being around her so much, and seeing how well she managed my family, I fell in love with her.

We decided we'd like to marry, and I saw an attorney. For a considerable sum of money, he said he could get me a divorce. After I had given him the money, he said he needed more this time more than I could raise. What can I do? The situation at home is getting intolerable for both my housekeeper and myself.

Seek Competent Legal Aid

Answer: I won't attempt to handle the ethics of your case, but try to help you on one of the practical aspects outlined in your letter, which I have considerably shortened.

It is very easy to understand how you have come to love the woman who is caring for your family, and who has finally brought peace and order into your home. It is quite apparent, however, that in your efforts to clarify the situation, you have run into a lawyer who is, to say the least, grasping and unscrupulous. Instead of trying to get your own legal advisor, I suggest that you ask the welfare society to recommend one, or contact the Legal Aid Society for advice.

I am taking it for granted that you reside in a state that accepts mental illness as grounds for divorce. Some states do not, so be sure you are not misled on this point.

Dear Miss Dix: For several years I had a love affair with a married man. Now he has returned to his wife, leaving me heartbroken. I can't understand how he could treat me so after the happiness we've had together. Should I go away and try to forget him, or stay in hope that he will return?

Answer: You never had any right to the man, so why bemoan the fact that he finally got tired of you and returned to the home where he belonged? You have no complaint. You knew all along the man was married, knew you were stealing him from another woman, and should have known enough to realize that if he'd cheat one woman he couldn't be true to another. Whether you go away or stay, it's doubtful if he'll stray from home again.

Dear Miss Dix: The man I love is fourteen years younger than I, but he is determined to marry me, regardless. What do you think of this age difference? H. W. Answer: It is most difficult to give an opinion on the probable happiness of a marriage involving these cases in age. Sometimes these cases are not, though usually they are not. Your situation is one for which I wouldn't hold out too much hope. A difference of fourteen years, especially when it is the woman who is older, will cause many complications. However, if both of you are prepared to face them, you might salvage a happy marriage from the shaky foundation.

were selling the cheaply-priced extinguishers like grass seed in April. At first they commissioned a metal firm to make them, then bought the firm with their profits. Now their metals plant and its products gross about 1½ million dollars a year.

"We got into the haircut business by accident," said Al. "An accountant with us told us that the hotel barbershop he went to was for sale, and he thought it would be a good buy."

"So we bought it, and took the accountant in as partner. The shop did so well we decided to try another."

They ended up by buying the largest barber shop chain in America — 18 barbershops and eight beauty parlors in New York, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. The chain takes in better than two millions annually.

In 1951 the two partners commissioned a friend, who was visiting Europe, to look around for new products. He came back excited over an item he had found in Sweden, a fluid in which household silver could be dipped and freed almost instantly of tarnish.

"We snapped it up," said Al. "and sold more than one million dollars worth in eight months last year. This year we expect it will do three millions."

Lew and Lew have decided the best field for quick profits in America today lies in household chemicals — products to lighten a wife's chores. They are currently preparing to market a new wall cleaning paste and a liquid de-moisture which can be poured into a Washington machine and protect woodens from moths for a year.

"The two partners work as a team, are closer than brothers."

"We do everything together," said Al. "And we switch the presidency back and forth between us."

Both take pride in the fact they have built their empire on youth. "Of our 12 executives," said Lew, "ten are in their 20s or 30s. I am getting to be one of the old men."

Wheat found in Mesopotamian tombs dated about 3,500 B. C. is of an advanced type which experts believed must have resulted from long ages of culture.

20 Millionth Discharge Granted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Somewhere in the U.S. today a serviceman will be handed a discharge and become the nation's 20th millionth living veteran.

That is the best Defense Department estimate, at any rate.

The identity of the man will be as unknown as that of the unknown soldier, since no effort is being made to pinpoint him. Even if it wanted to the department says the task would be impossible. About 3,000 men are discharged a day from separation centers all over the country, a number of them at almost exactly the same moment.

The bulk of the veterans are men with World War II service. World War veterans totaled about 3,300,000. Veterans of all wars and peacetime service — including men with Korean War service — total about 11,150,000.

1900 YEARS

Up a "Green Hill far away," pilgrims have been journeying for nineteen hundred years. The way to Golgotha was hard and His cross was heavy but there is a cross for everyone. He cursed not those who tortured Him but prayed the most gracious prayer history has recorded, "Father Forgive Them, they know not what they do."—His journey to Golgotha transfigured the cross forever, turning a symbol of suffering into a symbol of triumphant life. Terrible is any cross a weary man must carry alone, but God of Calvary waits to help carry every man's burden. He was crucified for us... may we live for Him?

Adenauer Leaves France for U. S.

LE HAVRE, France (AP)—West
Germany's Chancellor - Foreign Minister Konrad Adenauer sailed for the United States early today for important conferences but indicated that even more critical talks may take place next month
— when he visits Britain.

In a news conference shortly before he boarded the liner United States, the Chancellor said that in London he would discuss Britain's relationship with the projected European Defense Community
(EDC).

Asked what he would take up with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden,
Adenauer at first only told newsmen the talks in mid-May — after his Washington visit — would concern the world situation at that time. Then he added:

"I don't want to play hide-and-seek with you, I have repeatedly urged Eden to accede to France's wishes for closer association between Britain and the EDC."

Bell Rate Hike Proposal Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Public Service Commission has postponed until April 13 a hearing on South western Bell Telephone Company's request for a new Arkansas rate increase.

Hearing originally was set for next Monday.
The new date is tentative and PSC chairman, Lewis Robinson said a definite time was contingent on acceptance of an accounting firm to appear as a witness for the Commission.
